Situation Little Dreamed of One Week Ago.

VAST COAL MINES LIKE GRAVEYARDS

On Every Railroad Track Stand Empty Cars.

Miners Are Supremely Confident of Holding Their Own, and On the Other Hand, Operators Are in No Hurry to Have the Difficulty Adjusted-Much Coal Heid For an Advance Has Already Been Sold at a Good Profit-West Virginia Diggers a Great Factor.

Pittaburg, Pa., July 11.—Today marks the beginning of the second week of the coal miners strike, and already it gives promise of being one of the greatest wage struggles in the history of this country. Eight days ago the coal operators in this district and the miners themselves little Greamed that

ONE BIG OBSTACLE.

Just now the greatest obstacle in the ny of success of the inter is the ac-vity of the dispers in the West Vir-nia fields. They are working night

At that time there was a number of operators in the mountain states that were on the verge of bankruptcy. The general suspension was declared, and there came a great demand for coal at prices that insured a big profit. The operators railied around them a large number of men, whose friendship and support they have encouraged ever since.

The operators musted by thousands and thousands of dollars. When the season had finished and the strike was declared a failure they balanced their books and found things on the proper side of their books and found things on the proper side of their bedgers.

They realized that they owed much of their brofit to their miners, and rewarded them for it. On each succeeding prevails between the employees and naturally the best of feeling prevails between the employees and employees.

This is the condition of affairs which the organizers who will go into the West Virginia district this week will have to encounter. It is argued by the miners and that there are more men out in that section than there were three years are and they express the greatest confidence in bringing them out if they can get their ears. This failing the railined organizations will be appealed to. This plan of campaign has been outilized by the mattonal officers and the developments of the week will be watched with interest.
